

GED: Beyond the Basics

Integrating Workplace Materials into Higher-Level Programs

Professional Development for Adult Education Administrators and Teachers

Presenters: Susan K. Pittman & Bonnie Vondracek

In today's world, 80% of the fastest growing jobs in the U. S. require some higher education after high school. Our GED students need these higher-level skills in order to be competitive in the job market.

Attend the upcoming training opportunity, GED: Beyond the Basics—Integrating Workplace Materials into Higher-Level Programs, sponsored by Central Florida Community College. This project is funded through a state leadership grant.

Learn how to help your students leave your program with improved skills for both the workplace and for passing the GED Test.

This workshop is designed to provide you with resources to enhance your program and ideas to help students to be more successful in entering higher education institutions and the workplace.

This one-day workshop will demonstrate how workplace materials can be used in the classroom in order to provide higher-level instruction and improve students' academic skills in the areas of writing, reading, and mathematics.

Enjoy an interactive workshop that will help you to:

- Identify sources of authentic, workplace materials that can be used in the classroom.
- Identify opportunities for writing, reading, and mathematics activities that use real-life materials.
- Incorporate workplace materials into higher-level classroom activities.
- Conduct higher-level lessons in the areas of writing, reading, and mathematics.
- Experience the positive outcomes of an authentic-based lesson for the GED classroom.

Participate in this full-day training event and at the end of the day leave with a resource guide and 24 lesson plans that you can use in the classroom immediately!

The lessons focus on the use of higher-level academic skills in reading, writing and mathematics and incorporate real-life workplace materials. Show your students the relevance of academics for employment and everyday life.
